Course Description

This course is designed to give you an introduction to the implications of natural resources as economic concepts. It presents theories of efficient utilization of natural resources and discusses issues related to current practices of use of resources. We will study natural resources used in the economy, the value of natural resources to society, and the allocation of renewable and non-renewable resources. We also discuss issues of sustainability, conservation, and preservation. The course extensively uses graphical analyses and some mathematical models.

Prerequisites

Intermediate Microeconomic Theory (Econ 3070) is the prerequisite for this course. It is very important that you fulfill the prerequisite before you take this course, and still understand the materials in the prerequisite. If you have any uncertainty as whether you are under or over qualified to take the course, please talk to me ASAP.

Readings

The required book for this course is Natural Resource Economics: An Introduction, 2nd edition by Barry C. Field, BUT this book is a very basic natural resources book and used alone would be more fitting for a non-majors class. We will not use it alone. There will be additional assigned readings for nearly every topic we cover. These readings will be

Paper

I am asking you to write a short paper this semester. This will allow you to use all that you have learned in this class to examine an existing conflict over natural resources in the world today. The conflict can be local, regional, national, or international. I will discuss this more thoroughly in the first couple weeks of class. I want you to begin thinking about this early though, so that you will produce a good product. The paper should be no longer than necessary (I will give you more detail on the length and format in class). It should explain the problem, consider the economic institutions involved, consider the players that are involved, their costs and benefits, and the economic and political feasibility of a proposed solution. This is your chance to be creative, let your mind roam through the literature and through the newspaper.

Additional Notes:

Incompletes, Extra Credit, etc.:

I adhere strictly to the University guidelines on Incompletes (“An IF is given only when students, beyond their control, have been unable to complete course requirements. A substantial amount of work must have been satisfactorily completed before approval for such a grade is completed.”). Economics department policy prohibits IWs. Bad grades, unsatisfactory performance, too many credit hours, work conflicts, etc. are not reasons for an incomplete.

I am adamant about giving each student an equal opportunity to perform well in the course, so there will be no extra credit opportunities that are not offered to the entire class. You should focus your efforts on learning the material and doing well on the exams.

Final Exam Conflicts:

If you have three or more final exams scheduled on the same day, you are entitled to arrange an alternative exam time for the last exam or exams scheduled on that day. To qualify for rescheduling final exam times, you must provide evidence that you have three or more exams on the same day, and arrangements must be made with your instructor no later than the end of the sixth week of the semester (Friday, October 3rd, 2008).

Religious holidays

A comprehensive calendar of the religious holidays most commonly observed by CU-Boulder students can be found at <http://www.interfaithcalendar.org/> Review this list and the class syllabus. After reviewing the syllabus, please see the instructor if you believe that you need an accommodation for religious reasons. The instructor should be notified within the first two weeks of classes. Campus policy regarding religious observances states that faculty must make reasonable accommodation for them and in so doing, be careful not to inhibit or penalize those students who are exercising their rights to religious observance. For more information see http://www.colorado.edu/policies/fac_relig.html

Code of Behavior

Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. Students who fail to adhere to behavioral standards may be subject to discipline. Faculty have the professional responsibility to treat students with understanding, dignity and respect, to guide classroom discussion and to set reasonable limits on the manner in which students express opinions. See policies at <http://www.colorado.edu/policies/classbehavior.html> and at http://www.colorado.edu/studentaffairs/judicialaffairs/code.html#student_code

Policy on Sexual Harassment

The University of Colorado Policy on Sexual Harassment applies to all students, staff and faculty. Sexual harassment is unwelcome sexual attention. It can involve intimidation, threats, coercion, or promises or create an environment that is hostile or offensive. Harassment may occur between members of the same or opposite gender and between any combination of members in the campus community: students, faculty, staff, and administrators. Harassment can occur anywhere on campus, including the classroom, the workplace, or a residence hall. Any student, staff or faculty member who believes s/he has been sexually harassed should contact the Office of Sexual Harassment (OSH) at 303-492-2127 or the Office of Judicial Affairs at 303-492-5550. Information about the OSH and the campus resources available to assist individuals who believe they have been sexually harassed can be obtained at: <http://www.colorado.edu/sexualharassment/>
